The corn crop will be one of the finest ever raised.

About 75 or 80 prohibition counties went for Stanley.

Several pairs of pants were badly torn in Saturday's election.

Stanley's vote is 10,000 to 15,000 more than that of both of his opponents.

The slickest machine politicians in Kentucky for once slipped up in their own grease.

Gus Thomas had a runaway race for judge of the court of appeals, with 5,000 majority over Nunn.

With no issues except political principles dividing the parties, Stanley will beat Morrow 50,000 votes.

Four Hopkinsville preachers failed to get in a vote. Two were away from home and two forgot to register.

Gov. McCreary has gone to Atlantic City leaving Lieut. Gov. McDermott in the executive office at Frankfort.

Emma Goldman, anarchist lecturer, was arrested Saturday and warned not to make any more addresses in Portland, Ore.

Since they got into Russian territory, the German soldiers are, according to a Berlin dispatch, eating three square meals a day.

Senator B. F. Shiveley, of Indiana, who has been ill for several months in a New York hospital with an affection of the throat, is said to be now on the road to complete recovery.

Arthur M. Wallace, one of the nominees for judge in Louisville, is a Christian county boy who has made good in the metropolis. He is a brother of Thos. H. Wallace, of Clarksville.

On the issue of State-wide, shown by the combined votes of Stanley and McDermott, the adverse majority is about 60,000. The Democrats evidently want to talk about business for awhile.

The Courier-Journal fell down on its election reports for Sunday. The reports of both the Owensboro Messenger and the Owensboro Inquirer made the Courier-Journal's election news look like thirty cents.

The Supreme Court of Tennessee set aside the receivership for Nashville ordered by the lower court, affirmed the suspension of Mayor Howse and Commissioner Elliott and disapproved that of Commissioner Alexander.

Carranza has consented to come down off his high horse and talk about peace. This means that the Mexican situation is decidedly more hopeful, as Carranza has been the bull-headed one among the leaders of the warring factions.

Ranger After Mexicans.
Brownsville, Texas, Aug. 9.—Mexican outlaws and Texas rangers and county officials were engaged in two battles to-night near Norias, Texas, 60 miles north of Brownsville, according to reports received here. The telegraph operator at Norias has sent out a call for help.

The clash occurred at 6:30 and 8:30 o'clock last night, it is said. Results of the fight are not yet known here. A special train which left here for Norias late to-day with rangers and county officers, returned here to-night and ten minutes later started back to Norias. It will stop at Harlingen to take on a detachment of United States soldiers.

Death of Child.
James Leslie, the twenty-months-old son of William L. Haddock, of the Brent's Shop precinct, died Aug. 6 of ileocolitis. The interment took place near Sinking Fork Saturday.

JITNEY BUS LINE NEXT FOR CITY

Council Authorized It To Be Started on Conditions Asked.

DR. J. E. BELL PROMOTING IT
Tarvia Street Ordered on Seventh Street To Cost 2,500.

The Council met in regular session Friday night and transacted some important business. The principal item was the second passage of the ordinance asked for by Dr. J. E. Bell, who proposes to start a jitney bus line on specified routes in the city. The license fee is $50 for five cars or less.

The Odd Fellows committee notified the Council that that order had decided not to avail itself of the privilege to give a carnival in the city.

The improvement of the alley known as Woodard's alley, in rear of the City Bank, was ordered concreted.

An appropriation of $2,500 was made to construct a tarvia street on West Seventh Street from Water Street to Jesup Avenue, all to be paid by the city. The cost is estimated at 50 to 55 cents a square yard as compared with 75 cents paid by the city and 75 cents by property owners for the permanent bitulithic streets put down in 1912, and guaranteed for five years.

Concrete workmen who do not use the streets were given permission to take out license without giving the bond required by those who put materials in the street.

The Latham poor fund balance of $478.50 was turned over to the Associated charities.

World's Biggest Ox.

Schewerin, Germany, Aug. 9.—"Sultan," the biggest ox in the world, has been brought here for slaughter. He was exhibited at all the big cattle fairs in Germany. He is a giant of flesh and bone, just a fraction of an inch under 6 feet, 10 inches in height, and weighs 4,195 pounds. He is pure white and bred from a zebu or Indian bull.

BIG BUNCH OF BOOSTERS

Went To Cadiz Yesterday To Talk About Good Roads.

Seven automobiles left Hopkinsville yesterday for Cadiz decorated with flags and banners and filled with boosters for good roads.

In the party were the cars of Jno. J. Metcalfe, B. G. Rhodes, R. E. Cooper, Richard Leavell, A. D. Noe and W. R. Hammond. The boosters in the cars were County Judge Walter Knight, R. E. Cooper, C. R. Clark, W. R. Howell, J. J. Metcalfe, T. J. Baugh, G. P. Watkins, Geo. W. Crenshaw, Richard Leavell, A. D. Noe, Sr., A. D. Noe, Jr., H. C. Lockner, W. A. Wilson, J. W. Hancock, G. E. Dalton, J. M. Morris, B. G. Rhodes, W. R. Hammond and several others who went with Mr. Hammond early.

They were expecting to have a rousing meeting, the object being to induce the fiscal court to improve the pike connecting at the Christian county line with the proposed Dixie Bee Line Highway, the pike to be a part of the Jefferson Davis Highway from Hopkinsville to Canton.

STANLEY WINS BY 40,000

His Majority Over Both His Opponents Will Not Be Less Than 15,000—Carried Every District in The State Except The Fifth And Carried That By 5,000 Over McChesney.

GUS THOMAS HAS RUNAWAY RACE FOR JUDGE

Edwards Leads Black For Lieutenant Governor And Greene, Goodpaster And Cohen Now Appear To Be Winners.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 9.—Sweeping the State from one end to the other Augustus Owsley Stanley was Saturday nominated by the Democratic party as its candidate for Governor, the voters rolling up a majority for the Henderson man that may go over 40,000. Harry V. McChesney furnished what little contention there was in the race and Lieut. Gov. Edward J. McDermott brought up the rear, showing practically no strength except in Louisville.

Stanley's victory was so overwhelming that it was apparent after returns were received from the first few counties that it was only a question of how large his plurality would be.

On the Republican side Edwin P. Morrow, of Somerset, won an equally hollow victory, his only opponent, Latt McLaughlin, getting but a scattering vote. The vote in the Republican half of the primary was very light and but little interest was manifested.

James D. Black, of Barbourville, is behind James P. Edwards, of Louisville, for the Democratic nomination as lieutenant governor by 3,000 votes.

For railroad commissioner in the second district, Sid Douthitt, of Newcastle appears to have defeated William F. Clair, of Lexington by a small vote. The contest for Secretary of state is close, with Barksdale Hamlett, of Frankfort, having a slight advantage over his opponent, Charles W. Milliken of Louisville.

In the race for Auditor, Treasurer, Clerk of the Court of Appeals and Superintendent of Public Instruction the vote is close, but Goodpaster for Treasurer and Greene for Auditor are leading. Matt Cohen, the noted horseman, has a substantial lead for Commissioner of Agriculture and is an easy winner over H. M. Froman.

STATEMENT BY STANLEY.

In a statement issued by A. O. Stanley he said:

"In this last primary the democratic party of Kentucky made a choice not so much between men as measures. The issue which the democracy of Kentucky was called upon to decide was simple and sharply drawn—namely, whether it would continue to maintain the principle of local option and local self-government, or try the experiment of state-wide prohibition. It was, in its essence, a referendum to the people. After a campaign of education, thorough and elaborate, and after discussion of this subject in every county in the state, the people have rendered their decision, and have definitely determined, as I interpret the returns from the primary, to reaffirm the position taken in 1911 and to maintain the county unit law as it is now written.

"It is hoping that this question may be eliminated from politics, and that we may begin now to seriously consider grave and pressing matters, I take this occasion again to assure the people of Kentucky that if elected governor I shall exert all the power vested in me to prevent its future agitation and to maintain intact and without change or amendment the county unit law as now enacted.

REPUBLICAN CONTEST.

In the republican contests returns received indicate that the outcome of only two of the races are in doubt, that of treasurer, in which William Hunter, of Louisville' Thomas Wallace, of Irvine and R. L. Moore, of Marion are seeking the nomination. The selection of Hunter is indicated. For appellate clerkship nomination, Earl C. Huntsman, of Scottsville and Lawrence McCoy, of Jackson are running close together. Nomination for the other offices follow:

Lieut. Governor—Lewis L. Walker, of Lancaster; Secretary of State—James T. Lewis, of Whitesburg; Attorney General—T. B. McGregor, of Frankfort, (no contest); Superintendent of Public Instructions—R. P. Green, of Bowling Green, (no contest); Commissioner of Agriculture—W. C. Hanna, of Shelbyville.

The Fifth District gave McDermott 10,998, Stanley 7,991 and McChesney 1800.

Sam V. Dixon beat Jno. L. Dorsey for circuit judge in the Henderson county and in every county of the district.

Judge Birkhead was re-elected in the Owensboro district and Ben. D. Ringo beat Lawrence Tanner for Commonwealth's Attorney.

Denny P. Smith was re-elected for a third term by a very large majority, estimated at 1500 majority over Jas. B. Allensworth. He carried Christian by 328, Trigg by 700, Calaway by 307 and Lyon by 131.

Baker, of Caldwell, defeated Ruby Laffoon and Ed Young for Commonwealth's attorney in the Hopkins county district.

PLATFORM CONVENTION TO BE QUIET AFFAIR

Stated That McChesney Will Make No Fight For Plank Favoring Submission.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 9.—The Democratic State platform convention, which probably will be called this month, promises to be a quiet party affair, with no factional friction, especially over the liquor question. It was ascertained today authoritatively, though no one would assume the responsibility to speak for anyone other than himself, that the McChesney organization will make no fight for a plank favoring submission of a State-wide amendment, and so far as could be learned there is no other question dividing the party. The convention, it is expected, will be devoted to consideration of how the party and the ticket can put the best foot forward in the November election campaign. It seems to be tacitly agreed among politicians of both sides that the primary settled the liquor question so far as the Democratic party is concerned this year, and Mr. Stanley will be untrammelled in the matter of committing the party on such subjects as he considers of paramount importance in the campaign.

In the Russellville district Judge Jno. Rhea loses to Standard, of Todd, by a close vote. He got 500 in Logan and 400 in Simpson, while Standard carried Todd and Muhlenberg by 1013.

Judge Bunk Gardner was nominated for circuit judge in the Mayfield district.

The Columbia river of Canada is 1,400 miles in length; the stream of the same name in Oregon is 600.

TEUTONS MAKE PROGRESS IN VAST SCHEME

Advance in All Directions To Cut Off the Russian Retreat.

VISTULA CROSSED AT WARSAW

Attack on Fortresses at Lovno and Ossowetz is Commenced.

London, Aug. 9.—The Germans continue to advance in all directions in the efforts to cut off the Russian retreat from the Polish salient. They already are attacking the fortresses of Kovno and Ossowetz, obstacles they must overcome to reach the railway running from Warsaw through Vilna and Dvinsk to Petrograd.

They have taken the minor fortresses of Serock, at the junction of the Narew and the Bug, and have crossed the Vistula in the vicinity of Warsaw. Further south, General Woyrech is advancing eastward, but Field Marshall Mackensen is being fought stubbornly, and apparently is making slow progress.

On the whole the daring scheme mapped out by the Germans as a grand sequel to the capture of Warsaw—the destruction of the Russian army—is unfolding itself slowly, as must be the case from its very magnitude. With three main railways, besides those built since the war, military circles here believe the Grand Duke Nicholas will extricate his Warsaw army. Events, in the east, however, will continue to hold the attention of the world for some time to come.

The Germans have gained minor successes in the Argonne forest, where the Crown Prince's army has been trying for weeks to find a weak spot in the French defences, but their effort to recover lost trenches on the Lingekopf, in the Vosges, is declared to have cost them dearly.

There has been heavy fighting in the Caucasus between the Russians and the Turks, but official reports are so contradictory it is impossible to say in whose favor it is going.

INJURED BY MOTORCYCLE

And Death Results From Accident After Three Days of Intense Suffering.

Herbert S. Owen, a well-known mechanic in the employ of the Mogul Wagon Co., died yesterday morning about 2 o'clock at his home, No. 1226 Twyman street. Death was due to gangrene, following an injury to one of his heels. On Thursday Mr. Owen was riding with a friend on a motorcycle, when the machine struck a chunk in the road and in some manner Mr. Owen's foot got caught in the machinery and his heel was cut. The injury was not considered of a very serious character, but on Saturday night blood poison developed and death resulted from the wound as above stated.

Mr. Owen was about 24 years old and leaves a wife and four small daughters. He was a member of the Methodist church. He was an Odd Fellow and was also a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and the order of Owls.

His funeral services will be held at his late residence at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon by Dr. Lewis Powell and the interment will take place in Riverside Cemetery, under the auspices of the Odd Fellows.

Died After Operation.

Irvin Carter, a young farmer, died a few days ago at his home a few miles southeast of Lafayette, following an operation for appendicitis. He was 34 years old and a member of the Baptist church.

CHANGE ALLEGIANCE AT WILL

Nationality a Matter of Small Moment in the Countries of the Levant.

Constantinople and the neighboring regions have been the great scene of quick-change cosmopolitanism. "We naturally think of nationality as being a matter of birth and race," says Sir Charles Eliot, "but in the Levant it is regarded as a kind of privilege which may be acquired, lost or changed. No one sees anything incongruous in one brother being an Englishman, a second a Belgian and a third a Turkish subject. On the outbreak of the Turco-Greek war Hellenic subjects were placed under certain disabilities which affected their business. One of them came to me and asked whether he could not be made then and there a British subject. He was distressed to find it impossible; but a day or two afterward I met him satisfied and smiling. He had become a Serbian, and all was right again."

LIVE STOCK

BUILD UP THE HOME MARKET

Not Enough Attention Paid to Local Needs by Many Breeders of Pure-Bred Stock.

Many breeders of pure-bred stock fail to pay sufficient attention to their local market. The excuse is often made that the farmers near by will not pay the prices a breeder ought to have for producing high class breeding animals. To the breeder located in a community where the use of such stock has not become firmly established this may be true. It will be to the breeder's interest to use his best efforts to educate the men of his home community to the value of this stock. It may be necessary in the beginning to sell a breeding animal occasionally for a little less money than it might bring from one familiar with its value. As it is demonstrated to these men that good breeding pays in dollars and cents they will gradually become willing to pay more nearly what animals are worth for breeding purposes.

During the past season owing to bad roads and bad weather conditions many buyers from a distance were prevented from marketing. It has been interesting to observe the instances where the home market had been systematically developed to such extent that the offering was taken at fairly remunerative prices in spite of the absence of outside buyers. A successful breeder of improved live stock who endeavors to build up a home trade in this way is a good business asset in the community. In the course of time the whole community will benefit as a result of his work for live stock improvement. Such men should be given every encouragement possible.

GET MOST FROM SHORTHORNS

Cow Is Equal to Any Other in Producing and Raising Bull Calf and in Giving Milk.

An Illinois writer in giving his reasons for preferring the Shorthorn breed of cattle says:

1. I have fed steers of all the different beef breeds, and while there is a vast difference in the feeding qualities of individual animals I have arrived at the conclusion that as a breed I get more growth, stretch and finish from the Shorthorn than from those of other beef breeds.
2. The Shorthorn cow is the equal of any other in producing and raising a bull calf, and the superior of the cow of any other beef breed as a milkster.
3. The Shorthorn cow not only raises a good calf but pays her own way at the pail, which makes her the ideal farmer's cow.

4. When a small boy my father gave me a Shorthorn heifer cow, and as a result I have been breeding Shorthorns for thirty-two years, during which time I have owned registered cattle of other breeds, but have never found any good reason for discarding the Shorthorns, but on the contrary have discarded the others and replaced them with Shorthorns.

CANADA FIGHTS HOG CHOLERA

Regulations for Admission of Swine From United States Are Very Strict—Enforce Quarantine.

(By H. PRESTON HOSKINS.) Vaccination of hogs is not permitted in Canada. A regulation of the Canadian government reads as follows: "The use of hog cholera serum or virus, being considered a source of danger, the importation, manufacture, sale or use of such serum or virus is prohibited."

The regulations for the admission of hogs into Canada from the United States are very strict. Hogs that have been vaccinated by the double method cannot be admitted. Hogs coming from localities in which there has been cholera within the past six months are refused entrance. Hogs which are not excluded for these reasons are held in quarantine for one month at the Canadian border before being allowed to go to their destination.

Terrible Train Of Troubles.

Since taking Cardui, I have no more pains, can walk as I want to, and feel good all the time." Take Cardui and be benefited by the peculiar herb ingredients which have been found so efficient for womanly ills. ROAD BREAKER IS CIVILIZER Man's Scale Is Very Correctly Tested by His Attitude Toward Some Obstruction in Road.

The civilized man makes roads; the savage does not. That is the safest test of civilization.

Among us in all communities are individuals who are not really civilized. They do not take any interest in roads.

A man's scale in civilization is very correctly tested by his attitude toward the stone which has rolled into the road, or the tree which has blown down across it, writes Herbert Quick in Farm and Fireside. The man who drives around the obstacle day after day is one sort of man, the one who stops his team and rolls or drags it away is another. And a person passing along a road which he does not expect to retrace, who removes the obstruction for the sake of the stranger who comes after him, responds to a very high test of civilization. He feels socially.

When the snow piles up in the road the man who goes ahead and breaks the path for others bears the burden which he who has made progress always must bear. There is snow in every road—to co-operation, to better schools, to better business methods. There must be road breakers for every path.

The road breaker is the great civilizer.

DIRT ROAD IS THE CHEAPEST

Most Satisfactory Highway in Nine Tenths of Territory—Big Objection to Macadamized Roads.

The time may come when we can make cement roads. They will cost from $5,000 to $10,000 a mile and they may be so smooth, if we learn to make them properly, that the children living on these lines of road can go to school on roller skates, as they do in some places down in Maryland.

There may be some satisfactory combination of sand and clay; but, speaking for the prairie lands, the best and the cheapest road we can get over nine-tenths of the territory is the dirt road. The more clay there is in it, the better the dragged road will be. There is no better road than the gumbo road, if it is properly dealt with.

It is really a pity that the drag is so simple and cheap. If it had cost $25 or $50, and was painted red, then the farmers would think something of it. The main reason why it has not come into more common use is that it is so cheap and simple in construction and so easy to handle.

Someone may ask: Why is it that there was no objection to macadamized roads twenty or thirty years ago? Simply because we did not have the automobile. MacAdam, that Scotchman from the section where Secretary James Wilson was born, was a genius. He figured that by putting stone on the road, the wheels of the wagon, especially if broad tread, would gradually wear down these stones and furnish a filler. He did a great service to his country. But the automobile has come in. It has no iron tires; hence it makes no filler. On the other hand, it sucks out the filler and throws it out in the air. It pries the stones apart, and then we have what is called a "raveled" road, that is, a road covered over with loose stones, the meanest kind of a road to travel over. That is the reason the macadam road falls under modern travel.—Wallace's Farmer.

Extremes to Avoid.

"One of the important factors in roadmaking is to control the moisture content of the soil in making up the roadbed. When the soil is dry it crumbles to dust and when it contains too much water it becomes mud. These are two extremes to avoid.

Too Much Moisture on Top. Trees should not be allowed to shade the road as this keeps it too moist on the surface after rains, so

In race the Fijians are a people of Melanesian stock, much crossed with Polynesians. They are dark in color, have a harsh skin, crisp hair, which is bleached with lime and worn in an elaborate mop, while their features are strongly marked, but not unpleasant. They are sensitive, proud, vindictive, boastful, savage, hospitable, and courteous. The Fijians are industrious, especially those engaged in agriculture. The value of the exports of sugar, pearl shells, beche-de-mer, copra, coconut oil, and coconuts has been steadily increasing of late years. The total export trade is now approximately $5,000,000 per annum.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

VIII.—C. E. Schaff

On Railway Investments

President Wilson, recently referring to our railroad problems, said in part: "They are indispensable to our whole economic life and railway securities are at the very heart of most investments, large and small, public and private, by individuals and by institutions. . . . There is no other interest so central to the business welfare of the country, as this. No doubt, in the light of the new day, with its new understandings, the problem of the railroads will also be met and dealt with in a spirit of candor and justice."

When the first citizen of the land stresses the importance of understanding and dealing justly with the railroads, certainly the American plowman can venture upon a careful study of the problem. C. E. Schaff, president of the M. K. & T. railway company, when asked to outline the relation of the public to railroad investments, said in part: "It may be said that the railroad world is encumbered with a lot of phantoms which exist only in the popular fancy. For instance, because there have been a few so-called 'railroad magnates' whose names have figured prominently in finance, many people have come to believe that the railroads of the country are largely owned by a few rich men. As a matter of fact nothing could be farther from the truth. Out of the colossal sum of twenty billion dollars of American railroad securities, less than five per cent is now, or ever has been, in the hands of these men who have figured prominently in the newspaper headlines—while the other 95 per cent is in the hands of over two million investors, large and small, who in many instances have put the modest savings of a lifetime into these securities in order that they might lay away a competency for old age. When, therefore, the value of these securities is depressed or perchance destroyed, the hardship is a hundred-fold greater upon thousands of everyday citizens, than upon the handful of millionaires, good or bad, who have figured prominently in railroad circles."

Hundreds of millions of dollars of the assets of our great life and fire insurance companies, savings banks, trust companies, educational and fiduciary institutions are invested in railroad bonds—and the moment, therefore, that the soundness of these bonds is called into question the financial solidity of these myriad institutions—directly affecting the welfare of millions of policyholders and bank depositors—is gravely menaced. During the last several years, many millions of dollars representing depreciated values, have been charged off the books of concerns like those enumerated above. American railroads have become a vital part of the very wool and fabric of the nation. Their continued efficiency is absolutely essential to the smallest community in the land.

In blindly striking at the railroads our blows fall not merely upon thousands who have committed no wrong, but, in the last analysis, upon ourselves. We should remember how interdependent we have come to be in this mighty republic of ours—that each is in truth become more and more his brother's keeper, and that we need to act and think circumspectly, lest in our mistaken zeal we destroy those who, like ourselves, need whatever of this world's goods the toil and sweat of years has bequeathed to them."

Here's The Best CONTEST OF ALL

EVERY CONTESTANT A WINNER
AND NOBODY CAN LOSE

Trip To Mammoth Cave Will Not Cost A Cent

The Kentuckian has put on a subscription campaign which began July 19, which every contestant will be a prize winner, in which the contestants can work together and help each other and all unite in a common purpose. The plan is a simple one and the proposition is that every lady or girl who secures a club of 20 subscribers to the Kentuckian at $2 for a year's subscription, or a larger number of shorter term ones to make $40, will be given a FREE TRIP to MAMMOTH CAVE, all expenses paid, occupying two days.

Trips to the Cave are always fascinating, especially to the young, and everybody desires at some time to see this greatest of all caverns, the one thing above all else that makes Kentucky a mecca for tourists the world over. Even those who have seen the Cave before find something attractive in visits again and again. The Cave is so vast, its wonders so great and its attractions so numerous that one never tires of inspecting its miles and miles of underground passages.

There is not a neighborhood in Christian or adjoining counties in which some young lady cannot in one day secure 20 subscribers who will pay for a year's subscription to the Kentuckian and the deed is done, and this wonder of the world may be visited without its costing her one cent. The rules of the contest will be easily understood and capable of no understanding.

Subscriptions May Be Sent In at Any Time
From Now Until September 15.

They may be for a year or fractional parts of a year to make up $40 in each club. They may be for one year or more than one, not to exceed 5 years to any one subscriber.

Voluntary renewals in the office cannot be credited to clubs. The young ladies may secure rewards but must bring or send subscriptions in themselves.

Should any girl fail to collect a full club, she may transfer her strength to some friend, or by paying the amount necessary to complete the cost of the trip in cash, she may go on the same basis as the others.

The Contest Began Monday, July 19th And Will Close September 15th.

There will be no restrictions or limitations as to the territory. Get subscribers anywhere in or out of the county.

Only such payments on subscriptions as are made on or after July 19 will be included in clubs.

The contest will be conducted by the Business Manager of The Kentuckian and the names of those who desire to enter the contest for the trips offered will be given every possible assistance in getting up clubs.

In former contests many girls who did effective work in securing subscribers failed to secure awards, because others got more subscribers. This time every dollar collected represents a fixed value and every girl who gets up a club will be sure of the trip. The more the merrier. We would like to take 100 girls on this great outing.

WINGS TWO IN GUN PLAY

Joe Elgin Shoots Eli Garnett and John Wilsoid Near City Sunday.

Joe Elgin, colored, shot and seriously injured Eli Garnett and John Wilsoid, both negroes, on Sunday afternoon about 6 o'clock on the farm owned by the Atkins Bros., about 3 1/2 miles from town, on the Clarksville pike.

Garnett was sitting in a swing on the back part of the place, talking to Wilsoid, who is a boy of about 14 years, when Elgin came up and fired at him several times. Garnett was struck in the face and on the arm and a stray shot found lodging in Wilsoid's breast. A number of colored people were present at the scene of the shooting.

The shooting is thought to have been the result of a quarrel that had been existing for several days between the men. None of the bullet wounds proved fatal and both of the negroes are doing nicely.

Elgin made his escape immediately after the scrape and has not yet been located.

Luke McLuke Says.

When a man hater another man he goes around and tells everybody but the man he hates.

A rich man is often a poor husband.

The woman who spends all of her time trying to shine in society always gets mad when her nose gets the habit.

The fellow who remains in the hay and pounds his ear until noon usually spends the rest of the day whining that he can't get up in the world.

A man doesn't mind paying his beer bill, but it is different when his water bill comes in.

Start to praise a man and your audience will yawn. Start knocking a man and your audience will sit up and pay attention.

When a man can't make a living any other way he can always become a reformer and find plenty of grouches to finance a society for the prevention of something.

The reason why a woman never succeeds when she marries a man in reforming him because she forgets to take a course of lessons in the art of charming snakes.

When he begins to notice that she talks too much, and she begins to notice that his breath smells of tobacco, the honeymoon goes out and hunts for a man who knows how to use a pulmo'or.

This is a queer world. In one end of a town a woman who has denied herself enough to eat so that the children might have milk for supper will pick up a piece of newspaper and see a big headline over the news that a woman in the other end of a town has just paid $10,000 for a Pekingese poodle.

Your credit never gets so poor that you can't borrow all the trouble you are looking for.

OFFER OF PEACE MADE

It Was Made Through
King of Denmark.

WAS DECLINED BY THE CZAR.

Asserted Terms Were the Cession of Galicia While Germany Kept West Poland.

London, Aug. 8.—Reuter's correspondent at Petrograd transmits the following:

"The Bourse Gazette learns from an unimpeachable source that the German emperor made an offer of peace to Russia last week, through the king of Denmark. The answer sent to the king stated that the question of peace negotiations could not be raised at the present time."

A dispatch to the associated press from Petrograd says:

The report that Germany had made peace proposals to Russia became known in official circles here several days ago and was freely discussed in the lobbies of the Duma, according to the Veehernee Vermya.

"We learn on good authority," says the newspaper, "that Germany through Denmark proposed to Russia a separate peace, Russia to receive Galicia while Germany would retain the western district of Poland. A representative of the foreign office categorically denied that there was the remotest possibility of any peace negotiations. In the lobbies of the Duma, the proposal was dismissed as unworthy of serious consideration."

DANCING MASTERS FAVOR CUTTING OUT "FANCY STEPS."

San Francisco, Aug. 9.—The National Association of Dancing Masters, which is in session at Berkeley, declares that in favoring the simpler movements, it is endeavoring to take mathematics out of dancing. "The general trend is toward comfortable dancing," declared Z. L. Hinman, of San Francisco, president of the association. "It is ridiculous to see middle-aged people studying the difficult steps of the Maxixe. The time is close at hand when the difficult steps will be as rare at a dance as are the old folks dances today."

GATES OPEN AT MATINEE RACES

Everybody Invited To Attend
The Big Event Next Saturday Afternoon.

The Matinee Race Club has been busy this week listing entries on next Saturday's race card and all indications point to the fact that the speed contests on that program will be some of the fastest ever seen on the local turf.

In order to get the people of the city more interest in this great pastime, the officials have decided to remove the admission fee and to invite everybody who will, to come as the guests of the Race Club.

The card for Saturday consists of two trots and two paces and a pony race, with perhaps some special races added for the occasion. A record-breaking attendance is hoped for.

TEACHING AGRICULTURE.

Lessons For School Year Outlined—Topics are Timely and Practical and Fit Into Agriculture.

In the rural districts of the United States about 11,000,000 children are enrolled in school, and in more than 19 States the demand for teaching of agriculture in country schools has been so great that it is now required by law. In answer to the great number of inquiries from teachers of these and other schools for assistance in planning and carrying out their agricultural work, the department's specialists in rural education have presented in Bulletin No. 258, Lessons in Elementary Agriculture for Alabama Schools, a plan which may be adopted to local needs in the instruction of agriculture. It advocates classroom recitations, book work, laboratory work, and the application of this work to practical agriculture. In selecting a particular State, it has been shown how such a plan may be definitely worked out, and although the department does not contemplate issuing publications on this subject at this time for other States, it stands ready to co-operate in making studies as to agricultural schools and conditions and in outlining courses adapted to the conditions.

A monthly sequence plan is followed in the bulletin in the presentation of lesson topics, the purpose being to teach the principles of agriculture at the season when they should be practiced. Only the salient features of each lesson topic are outlined, but specific references are made to the text-book on agriculture adopted by the State and also to the bulletins of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute and to the Farmers' Bulletin of the United States Department of Agriculture. These additional references are made for two purposes, namely, to supplement the text-book material and to provide a reading course for the teacher. Any teacher in the South who secures these bulletins and studies them carefully will have completed a good elementary course in southern agriculture. Teachers in other sections doubtless will find the courses of study for Alabama very suggestive in planning their work, and from the bulletins of their States and from other Farmers' Bulletins can build up an equally valuable reading course. It is suggested by the author that agriculture and some other subject as physiology, be alternated throughout the school year. Two lessons a week for eight months are necessary to complete the studies suggested in the bulletin. If the school year is shorter, however, it will be necessary to have three lessons a week to complete the course.

Practical exercises to be carried out in the school garden or at home are suggested in connection with each lesson. If the course is to be made most effective, it is pointed out the practical work should take the direction very largely of club activities or home project.

BITUMINOUS-COAL PRODUCTION IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Pennsylvania produced 147,983,294 tons of bituminous coal in 1914, according to figures made public by the United States Geological Survey, the value of the output at the mines being $159,006,296. The great economic loss due to strikes is emphasized by the statement that during the year an aggregate of over a million working days was lost on this account; at the same time the enormous magnitude of the Pennsylvania coal industry is shown by the further statement that this lost time represented only about 2 1/2 per cent of the total amount of time worked. The number of men employed in the bituminous mines of the State was 184,201, the average production per man for each of the 214 days worked being 3 1/2 tons.

NO CHANCE FOR THE BURGLAR

Valuables Are Safe in the Vaults of Offices of J. Pierpont Morgan and Company.

The world's cleverest cracksmen are on their mettle. They are defied by a safe behind the doors of which lie untold treasures, which can never be blown open. Even the most powerful lyddite shell, fired from a big gun, would have little effect, so far as opening the safe was concerned. This safe, which is really an impregnable vault, has lately been built in the offices of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. of New York, and cost altogether $200,000. Of this sum nearly half was expended on the door. The latter, circular in shape, is eleven feet six inches in diameter and forty-five and one-half inches thick. It is made of armor plate, the same as that used in the construction of modern battleships, and will withstand any attack. In spite of its size, so delicately is the door poised that it swings as nicely adjusted in its movements as the works of the finest chronometers. When closed there is no conceivable way in which to attack it. It is proof against tool or explosive, and when the door swings into its place not even the air is able to get in. This prevents the introduction of any explosive of a liquid nature. This wonderful safe door is locked by twenty five-inch plungers or bolts, each of which is controlled by combination locks, which in turn are controlled by a time lock having four movements, any one of which will permit the opening of the combination locks. Another remarkable vault has been completed in a bank in Toronto, Canada. It consists of a hollow cube made of hardened steel and cement, measuring thirty feet in each direction. This vault has two sections, the upper section being for the use of the public as a safety deposit vault, and the lower for the storage of the bank's currency and securities. A floor of solid steel separates the two sections. The vault is guarded by a circular steel door ten feet in diameter, three and one-half feet thick and weighing forty-one tons, which is opened and closed by electric motors. When all precautionary devices are set three different alarms are sounded by the slightest tampering with the doors.

HIGH PRICE FOR SONGBIRD

Five Thousand Dollars Is Asked for the Canary-Bullfinch Called the "White Rose."

The recent international bird show has provided some astonishing facts and figures regarding the value of songbirds. There are nearly one hundred classes of canaries. That they can be Norwich or Lancashire, Border or Yorkshire, variegated, lizard, unflighted, clear, cross-bred, crested, self or foul, conveys very little to the average mind, but leaves one marveling at the variety of chirping little creatures whose feathers are every conceivable shade of yellow.

One marvels at the variety of birds that could be kept as pets. Finches, linnets, redpolls, tomtits, robins, wrens, stonechats, habbiers, redstarts, and long-tailed, short-tailed, wag-tailed, and crested varieties of all of them in every size, from the minute humming bird to the plump scarlet cockatoo, all vie for popularity which up to the present has been the monopoly of the canary.

And these little birds are all quite cheap. A few dollars will buy most of them, but on the other hand $2,500 would be asked for a gorgeous crimson bird of paradise, or $5,000 for the canary-bullfinch "White Rose," the most expensive songbird in the world.

A Buggy Ride!

It seems a long time since a more appealing idyl has come to the attention of a jaded, gasoline-ridden public than the brief story of the two sailor lads who went huggy riding Sunday. They hired an old horse and huggy, that almost forgotten combination sacred to Sunday afternoons in the country during the golden era of the nineteenth century (survivals of this sort must of necessity be old), and with their pancake hats lying in the bottom of their quaint vehicle they jogged along contentedly toward White Plains.

That is all, so far as the printed plot goes; but one must not forget the apple blossoms they saw and sniffed on their leisurely way, the gentle May breezes from verdant May meadows which stirred their youthful locks caressingly, the voluble greetings from tree tops and barnyard and swamp, lost neither through speed nor throes of motor, which spoke to them of home.—Exchange.

Not Phoning to Fishes.

If you see a man leaning over the railing of a bridge intently watching the river, with a telephone receiver at his ear do not think that the man is trying to talk to the fishes or to a diver below the surface. He is probably one of the government's engineers measuring the amount of water passing under the bridge. This is done by lowering an instrument, known as a current meter, into the water at several points under the bridge to determine the speed of the water and by measuring the depths of the water at the same points.

SENSATIONAL AND STUPENDOUS HIPPODROME SHOW

Greatest Acts of Vaudeville and Circus Booked For the Kentucky State Fair, Sept. 13-18

LOWANDES EQUESTRIANS

FRAMED by the giant oval and lofty dome of the $100,000 Pavilion, there will be offered each evening, beginning at 7:30, at the Kentucky State Fair an aggregation of feature acts, which are declared to constitute one of the greatest entertainments of the kind ever offered at a State Fair.

Secretary Dent has bent every energy toward securing turns which will provide a vivid contrast and a decided sensation, and the show as a whole will live up to the billing of Hippodrome.

Supreme among the banner attractions listed stands Oscar Lowandes' equestrian act, in which Lowandes and his beautiful girl partner perform amazing hareback stunts and tallyho feats. The act is splendidly staged and costumed and aside from its marvels of horsemanship and acrobatic art is as picturesque and pleasing to the eye as sculptured groups from a master hand.

Life, motion, color and thrill will characterize the turn of the Hassan Ben Ali Troupe of Arabian dancers, sword twirlers, leapers and tumblers.

The Cevene Troupe are aerial artists who are said to perform more dare-devil feats to the minute than any competitors in the show world. They do all the sensational midair flying and trapeze balancing ever attempted and, it is claimed, add hair raising accomplishments individual to themselves alone.

The Dellmeide Company is a musical aggregation of ten which boasts five classical beauties who are said to be stunning in looks and gowning. Their offering is likewise said to be a distinct novelty and one of the most delightful ever appearing in vaudeville.

The Piccolini Acrobats are absolute muscular marvels, and the lifting, balancing, carrying and wrestling offered by them are sensational in the extreme.

In entertaining contrast to these artists will be an aggregation of acrobatic comedians who combine uproariously funny clowning with some really skillful and interesting acrobatic work.

Thirty-five richly and kaleidoscopically arrayed musicians designated as the Royal Hussar Band and an equally large number of harmony dispensers known as the Scotch Highlands Players will be an important and enjoyable feature of the Hippodrome and night horse show exhibitions.

Pheasant, Duck, Goose and Deer

New Feature For Kentucky State Fair

A WONDERFUL, instructive and interesting exhibition planned as a new feature for the Kentucky State Fair will be the showing of every variety of pheasant, deer, wild duck and goose native to this country. The State Fair management has apportioned spacious grounds for the pens and cages in which the nucleus of a wonderful zoo is to be introduced during the celebration of Sept. 13-18, and, in fact, the specimens of pheasant already secured by the Fair management under the auspices and direction of the State Fish and Game Commission place Kentucky's collection second only to the largest in the world, which is a part of the zoo at Brooklyn, N. Y.

The State Fish and Game Commission is making every effort to replenish the almost entirely depleted stock of pheasants in Kentucky and has recently imported from England large flocks of breeders, which have been placed throughout the state. Special precautions have been taken for the protection of the birds, and farmers, on whose land the pheasants have been placed have been feeding them regularly and report that they have become quite tame. Quail will also be included in the importation of birds, and 5,000 will be brought into the state from Mexico. This variety of quail is native to Kentucky, but Mexico is the only place where the birds can be secured for restocking.

Two thousand five hundred pairs of English ring neck pheasants were liberated in Kentucky recently, and a large number of Prince of Wales pheasants were placed in the lowlands of the Purchase, to which section they are especially adapted. Reeves' pheasants have been sent in large quantities to the mountains and varicolored pheasants to the interior sections of the state.

All of these and every other existing variety of pheasant will be exhibited in the State Fair collection, as will the Japanese, English fallow and native American deer.

Special cut rate excursions will be run into Louisville over all lines and from all parts of the state during Kentucky State Fair week, Sept. 13-18.

Coupon books of six day tickets at $2 and six night tickets at $1 for the Kentucky State Fair, Sept. 13-18, will be on sale Aug. 15 until Sept. 11.

Celery on Muck Lands Ordinarily Receives One Ton an Acre—Stable Manure Is Unexcelled.

Dr. L. L. Van Slyke, of the Geneva station, recommends for early potatoes on good soils 500 to 1,000 pounds an acre of a 4-8-10 combination, and for the late crop about the same amount, but with a larger proportion of acid phosphate. Truckers sometimes apply as much as a ton an acre where large and early yields are required.

Cabbage, cauliflower and related crops are commonly treated with the so-called basic fertilizer, 4-8-10. For early crops nitrogen and phosphorus should be readily available, and 1,200 to 1,500 pounds an acre is not too much unless manure has been used very freely. Many growers apply a ton an acre. The late crop may well receive 600 to 1,000 pounds of the same formula, but with a smaller proportion of nutrients in Celery Ready for Market.

Immediately available form. Nitrate or soda gives splendid results with these crops.

For lettuce nothing is better than a soil that has been under heavy manuring for several years. Commercial fertilizers are not widely used by market gardeners for lettuce. Muck land growers have used heavy applications of complete fertilizers, but the present tendency is toward lighter feeding, especially when it follows heavily-fertilized plantings of celery or onions.

Celery on muck land ordinarily receives one ton an acre of a complete fertilizer analyzing about 4-8-10. Some growers use a 5-7-12 formula and applications may run as high as two tons an acre when extremely close planting is practiced. Stable manure is an excellent for home market gardens.

ANOTHER LARGE WHEAT CROP

Grain Should Be Stacked to Prevent Spoiling During Wet Weather and to Save the Straw.

Unless some unforeseen calamity should occur, the wheat crop this year will exceed the phenomenal crop of last year, and will probably be more than 700,000,000 bushels of winter wheat alone. This means that the threshing outfits, railroads, elevators etc., will be crowded to the utmost and a great part of the grain will stand in the fields for weeks. Therefore it should be stacked.

Stacking will save grain and straw which might otherwise be spoiled in wet weather.

Stacking will put grain through a complete sweat which will improve quality.

Threshing from the stack requires less help than shock threshing, which will equalize the cost of stacking.

Stacking furnishes good storage, with absolutely no cost, which would prevent glutting the market at any one time.

The grain must be removed for early working of the soil. Stacking makes it possible to plow following harvesting. Early plowing is one of the greatest factors in increasing the yield. Disking the land early is the next best thing.

MAKING SEED ROWS UNIFORM

Garden Rake With Attachment as Shown in Illustration Herewith Will Prove Satisfactory.

A good way to make drills or seed rows of uniform width and depth is to have an attachment for the garden rake as shown in the sketch, writes Bert W. Verne of San Diego, Cal., in Popular Mechanics. The device consists of a piece of tin or sheet metal having V-shaped projections on one edge the width of the rows. The other edge of the metal is inserted between the teeth on the rake. Thus it can be easily drawn over the garden bed to mark the rows. After the seed has been planted reverse the tin and use it as a hoe for filling the row.

To keep abreast of progress and note not only the developments in science, invention and discovery, but even the tendencies toward change, is no small contract—even in war time. The August Popular Mechanics Magazine, however, contains 272 articles, covering a wide range of subjects, and 376 illustrations, many of which are most unusual. Thirteen consecutive pages of views are used to depict the conditions in the European war zone. The pictures are impartially chosen and show many phases of the great conflict. An article on "Handling Transatlantic Mails in War" tells how this important public utility has been hampered, and what means are taken to safeguard the service.

Besides the war pictures, there are a number of fine page views and groups of views in the August Magazine. One of these shows a young airman in midair, dropping a wreath to the waters of San Francisco Bay at the point where Lincoln Beachey lost his life.

At a dinner party, somebody broached the subject of small vices. A party named Brown broke in with a dissertation on his own excellence. "Of course, I am not criticizing anybody," he said, "but personally I never drink, swear or indulge in habits of that kind."

"But, Mr. Brown," interjected one of the company, "you certainly smoke, don't you?"

"Yes, I like a cigar after a good meal," admitted Brown, "but I suppose that on an average I don't smoke more than once a month."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Duruy's History of the World

Four splendid cloth volumes, full of portraits, sketches, maps, diagrams

Today is the climax of a hundred years of preparation. Read in this timely, authoritative, complete, AND THE ONLY CONDENSED classic world history—of which over 2,000,000 copies have been sold in France alone—just what has taken place in the inner councils of Europe during the past one hundred years. Read in these entrancing pages how Russia has for years craftily been trying to escape from her darkness—to get a year-round open port, with its economic freedom. Read how Germany and Austria, fearful of the monster's latent strength, have been trying to checkmate her and how they have pinned all in this last, supreme stake.

The Lesson of the Past

This master of the pen shows you the story that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He guides you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of feudalism and the crusades through the Renaissance up to contemporary history, which Prof. Duruy completes in brilliant manner. In the story of the past lie the secrets of today. And you will understand them better when you get the Review of Reviews for a year—for the Review of Reviews will give you a sane interpretation of the events that are taking place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. To your mind you must bring order out of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

The kidney often cry for help. Not another organ in the whole body more delicately constructed; Not one more important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

Backache is one of the frequent indications of kidney trouble.

It is often the kidneys' cry for help. Heed it.

Read what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for overworked kidneys.

Proof of merit in the following statement:

F. M. Hal, farmer, Rock Castle Road, Cadiz, Ky., says: "I have not had any of a kidney remedy since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me some years ago. Turk Always a Fatalist.

Religion is the one and only topic the Turk cares to discuss. It controls his every act. Nothing affects his belief. No reasoning can prevail against his faith. The Turk, especially the uncivilized Turk, is very religious and fanatical. Fanatical, he is understood, if you ridicule his religion. He practices that scrupulously—five times a day, a pilgrimage to Mecca at least once in his life, if possible—such are the precepts of his religion which he never forgets. After all, the Turk is a fatalist and is fated to remain so. He appears quite contented with his fate. As the Koran says, "Each nation has its turn. When the appointed time comes men can neither retard it nor hasten it."

Tired, Aching Muscles Relieved

Hard work, over-exertion, mean stiff, sore muscles. Sloan's Liniment lightly applied, a little quiet, and your soreness departs like magic. "Nothing ever helped like your Sloan's Liniment. I can never thank you enough," writes one grateful user. Stops suffering, aches and pains. An excellent counter-irritant, better and cleaner than mustard. All Druggists, 25c. Get a bottle to-day. Evangelist Who Was an Actor.

George Whitefield qualified as a boy for games in more than one direction. The future evangelist enjoyed play acting, and performed in girl's clothes before the mayor and corporation of Gloucester; while by the time he was fifteen he had become an expert actor in the family public house. These pursuits, alien to the pulpit, appear, however, to have been converted into aids to evangelism. The youthful love of the stage no doubt helped to develop the tremendous histrionic gift which made Lord Chesterfield, on hearing Whitefield describe a blind beggar's fall over a precipice, spring from his seat and exclaim: "Good God, he's gone!"

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers, rely on Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Fine for cuts, burns, bruises. Should be kept in every home. 25c and 50c.—Advertisement.

MILK FOR THE BABY

MUST BE THE BEST AND CLEAN-EST THAT CAN BE HAD.

Is Really the Most Important Thing to Which Mothers Can Give Attention—Cleanliness the One Absolute Consideration.

Prepared for This Paper by the Child-care Bureau, United States Department of Labor.

When the baby is for any reason deprived of his natural food, that is, his mother's milk, it is necessary to find a good substitute as possible. At best such a food will be only a substitute, not an equivalent. This substitute food should be the best and cleanest that can be had. Here the mother has an advantage over the country mother, for most large cities have established rules regarding the milk that is offered for sale, and it is usually possible to find out the names of the dealers who sell clean milk. "Certified" milk is milk whose purity is guaranteed by special authorities. In small cities without such careful regulation of the milk traffic, and in the towns and villages, the mother finds it hard to get milk that she knows to be clean. The country mother has the advantage of being able to see just how the milk is handled when it comes from the cows on the place.

Cleanliness is the watchword of proper milk production. The cows themselves should be clean and healthy; the udders and teats should be washed before the milking is begun; the hands of the milker should be freshly washed and he should wear a clean cotton coat; the pail should be partly covered and previously scalded with boiling water, and the milking shed or stable should be clean. The milk should be strained at once and cooled as quickly as possible to 50 degrees and kept cold until used. A later article of this series will deal with the care of milk and its production.

Even clean milk may be spoiled after it comes into the house if it is not kept clean, cold and covered. Milk which stands uncovered, exposed to flies and dust, or is left in a warm room for any length of time, or is put away in open vessels will be unfit for the baby. It should be kept in covered bottles, cans or jars. To keep it cold, a cheap and effective ice box may be made as follows:

Use any convenient receptacle, such as a wooden box, a lard or candy pail, or a garbage pail, for the outside. Put a layer of sawdust an inch deep in the bottom. In the middle place a covered eight or ten-quart pail, or a section of ten-inch pipe. Fill the space between the two with sawdust, packing it carefully into all the corners. The outer receptacle should have a cover. If a box is used this cover may be a hinged one and may have a thick layer of newspapers or a straw cushion tacked to the inside to make it fit tight. The inner pail is intended to hold the ice and the milk bottles.

It has been found that if, instead of putting the ice in loose, it is broken up and put into a small covered pail, which is never uncovered, it will last longer. Set this little pail in the inner receptacle, pack the cooled and corked milk bottles around it and close the cover. This little device will keep the baby's milk sweet for 24 hours, if properly made.

Great care must be taken to keep the baby's milk clean in making up the baby's feedings. The mother's hands and clothing must be clean before she begins. The utensils needed should be kept for this use alone and should be freshly boiled before being used. All the food needed for 24 hours should be made ready at one time. It is convenient to have enough nursing bottles for the whole day and fill them all when the feed is prepared in the morning. Each bottle should be closed with a new clean cork which has been boiled. The bottles should be cooled and put away in the refrigerator or a cool place at once. When a bottle is needed take it out of the refrigerator and set it in a small pail of warm water. Put the pail over the fire and let the water heat. To test the temperature of the milk the mother may sprinkle a few drops on the inner surface of the arm. When it feels slightly warm, not hot, it will be right for the baby.

It is impossible in a short article like this to give all the necessary directions for preparing the bottles, or how to determine the amount of milk a baby of a given age requires, and how to modify it, but these questions are answered in a bulletin of the children's bureau called "Infant Care." This will be sent free to anyone asking for it, giving their name and address plainly.

Death to Spots.

If the articles are very dirty and contain grease spots, dissolve a little strong soap in warm water and mix well with it a small quantity of ox gall; touch over all the spots and rub them well with a stiff brush until they are entirely removed, after which the garment should be rubbed all over with a brush or sponge and warm water, to which should be added more of the soap and ox gall. Rinse until the water passes off clean, then hang up to dry.

Baked Bean Salad.

Put two cupsful cold baked beans with one cupful chopped boiled beets, sprinkle one tablespoonful olives over the mixture and mix with chopped lettuce.

NURSES NEEDED

Several Apprentices Can Now
Get Places at Jennie
Stuart Hospital.

Mrs. Wanda Williams is on the lookout for some young women to begin the course taught in the Jennie Stuart Memorial Hospital Training School for nurses. Mrs. Williams, superintendent of the hospital, has recently graduated several nurses and all of them at once found all of the work they could do. In fact the supply of local nurses is hardly ever equal to the demand and many are brought from other cities from time to time.

The usual charge by trained nurses is $25 a week and traveling expenses, board and lodging. This one of the most lucrative employments open to women, but every young woman is not qualified by nature to make a trained nurse. Those who are adapted to the work are required to take a course of three years before a diploma as Registered Nurses is issued to them. The apprentices, as they are called, live in the hospital and are given work enough to support themselves while studying. Any young women desiring to take up this line of work should see Mrs. Williams at the hospital.

Osborn, Ohio, To Be Wiped Out
To Prevent Destruction
By Floods.

Dayton, O., Aug. 9.—In line with the plans for prevention of future floods such as wrought disaster to this city and Miami Valley in March, 1913, the entire village of Osborn, Greene county, with its 400 families and more than 1,000 population, will be wiped from the face of the earth. The flood conservancy commission has perfected plans for acquiring all of the property of the village at a cost of approximately $1,500,000. The commissioners of the conservancy district estimated that the cost of building a great reservoir to make Osborn safe from flood danger would be far greater than razing the property located there. Property owners have agreed to the terms.

Gen. Tracy Dead.

Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy, who was President Harrison's Secretary of the Navy, died of paralysis in New York Friday, in his eighty-fifth year, after a period of unconsciousness lasting nine days. General Tracy's death followed a fight for life that had amazed the physicians at his bedside. Only his extraordinary vitality had kept him alive for the better part of the past week.

Got The Same Letter.

Two men with the same name and both members of the same club found a letter in their box at the club and the wrong man opened it first. It was just a little dun from a tailor, who threatened to do everything but murder. He knew the missive didn't belong to him, so he put it in the box.

The next night the wrong man and the right man happened to come to the club at the same time. Both went to the letter box, the right man reaching it first. The wrong man stepped back because he didn't want to embarrass the right one.

But not he; he was there with the nerve. The right man read the epistle over very carefully twice. Then he tore it into bits, which he tossed carelessly into nearest cuspidor, with a deprecating smile. "Poor little girl," said the right man. "How she love me."—New York letters to Pittsburg Dispatch.

Premier's Daughter.

Marriages have increased fifty per cent. since the beginning of the war. Among the prominent marriages announced for the near future is that of Miss Violet Asquith, daughter of the Premier, who will wed Maurice Bonham-Carter, the premier's private secretary. The marriage was to have been solemnized on July 27, but was postponed owing to the illness of Miss Asquith, who contracted typhoid fever while nursing her brother, an officer under Sir Ian Hamilton in Egypt. The wedding will take place as soon as Miss Asquith has recovered.

MRS. JAMES A. MCKENZIE

Her Home at Edgote.

A letter was received in this city by Mrs. George Willis from her daughter, Mrs. James A. McKenzie, Jr., at Edgote, Ky., stating that her mother-in-law, Mrs. James A. McKenzie, Sr., who makes her home with her son, suffered a stroke of paralysis on Tuesday in the right side of her face, and that her condition was serious. Her two daughters, Mrs. Bailey Browder, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Lamar Monarch, of Richmond, Ind., have been summoned to their mother's bedside.

Mrs. McKenzie is well known in Bowling Green, where she has often visited her daughter, Mrs. Browder, formerly Mrs. Hubert P. Potter, and Mr. James A. McKenzie, Jr., when they resided in this city.

The many friends of Mrs. McKenzie will regret to learn of her illness. — Bowling Green Messenger.
